

National Collaborating Centre
for Environmental Health

Centre de collaboration nationale
en santé environnementale

The EHFC Board of Trustees is very excited to announce a new student award program that is being offered by the National Collaborating Centre for Environmental Health (NCCEH) in partnership with the Environmental Health Foundation of Canada and takes the form of a contest held twice a year for students enrolled in environmental health programs across Canada. The project will operate as a pilot in 2012. Twice a year, January and April, each school's EH program/department will be invited to submit their best student project. Submissions will be reviewed by a panel and successful projects will be posted on the EHFC website. A prize of $200 will be presented to each of the 10 top projects (group projects will be considered as one).

The objectives are to:

- to promote evidence-based practice and policy among students and schools.
- to recognize quality student work.
- to share quality student projects with EH professionals across the country

For more details go to www.ncceh.ca/en/student_project_award