Before coming to the conference, the few PHIs I knew were our professors and teaching assistants. Knowing they pursued academic careers or became epidemiologists made me once question whether being a PHI/EHO is just a stepping-stone. But when I witnessed how so many members volunteer their time and energy being council or branch members or running the Board of Certification and Environmental Health Foundation, along with the encouraging speeches during Award Presentation Ceremony and by Life Member recipient at the President's Gala, this devotion and passion are the best evidence to me that PHI/EHO is a lifelong and rewarding career.

Everything ranging from the keynote speakers to the food highly exceeded my expectations and I was very impressed with the planning and quality of the conference itself. Specific benefits I was able to gain included knowledge, networking, and further discovery within the field.

SUPPORT OF INTERNATIONAL EPH AID PROJECTS

Malaria:

- Around 625,000 people die each year and 240+ million fall ill
- 70% of them are children under 5
- #1 killer of pregnant women
- Malaria is preventable
- 100% of public donations buys long-lasting insecticidal nets (LLINs). An LLIN costs US$2.00
- The Foundation works with distribution partners to distribute nets and ensure use
- Conduct net use surveys and track monthly malaria data
